

ABSTRACT

A laser display device and a method for controlling the same are disclosed. The laser display device includes a laser light source generating laser beams, an optical fiber transmitting the laser beams generated from the laser light source, and a light phase controller forming a curve in the optical fiber, so as to control a phase of the laser beams passing through the optical fiber.